A CITY OF 7 000 INHABITANTS DESTROYED BY A TORNADO HORRIBLE ... TERRIBLE CALAMITY

From the New York Herald Dec 2

MAZATLAN, Nov ... th

The city of Alamos situated in the northern part of the State of Sonora has been swept out of existence by a visitation of nature—namely a combined attack of two great forces wind and water The terrible event occurred during the great rain storm lasting from the 15th to the 18th ult From private letters received in this city we transfer the following accounts of the destruction and loss of life

We have endured awful suffering Torrents of rain for forty eight hours inundating the city during the greater part ... well ... the torrent ... forty eight hours ... that the houses ... the immediate way ... swept off by the force of the ... were rusted in by the ... weight ... quantity of the rain falling ... Don Diego Perez measured the water in a tank and found that forty inches had fallen in seventy two hours Alamos is no more You may rest assured that unless some new and rich mines are discovered it will never be rebuilt We are impoverished and ruined "

Another letter says

A horrible event has struck us with consternation and ruined a large proportion of the inhabitants of this city On the 15th it commenced to rain and after seventy two hours, at ten o clock at night, the sluices and dams on the mountain broke loose, a furious wind arose, the waters came dashing like fiends from the mountain sides and brought us face to face with the most terrible dangers. This circumstance made us forget all things except that which is more precious than all things—life, and especially the lives of our little ones Three minutes after the full tide of the flood, and everything was swept away as by a tornado. We sought refuge in the mountains, from where we could hear the crashing in of our houses Everything we had is lost There must be considerable loss of life, but as yet I am not able to ascertain the truth "

A former resident of this city writes

I have never seen such rains and floods in my life as we have had here for the past three or four days commencing on the 15th The beautiful and rich city of Alamos is totally destroyed and can never be itself again, because it seems impossible to retrieve such misfortunes Our house one of the strongest in the place and out of the way of the mad flood of the creek was made a wreck by the great force and weight of the rain falling upon the roof The principal street exists no longer and where stood rows of stores, private residences and offices now looks like the bank of a river lately overflown and covered with debris Everywhere I look destruction is spread around me As yet I do not know the loss of life

The fullest and probably the most reliable account is that by an American gentleman to one of his friends here We copy from a private letter

The agony that we have all gone through within the past few days is impossible to describe Probably you will have heard ere this that the city of Alamos is in ruins, but as you not have heard all the particulars I will give you what I know On the 15th it commenced to rain, and on the 16th a genuine rain and wind storm set in lasting until the 18th It seemed as if the very flodgates of heaven had opened and that a second deluge was upon the world The wind, too, roared with dreadful fury, and all the elements seemed combined for some dreadful carnage We little thought what was in store for our beautiful city But soon the tale was told and the destruction complete, or almost complete. The storm lasted until late on the evening of the 18th During its continuance it appeared as if no human being could live within its reach The Alamos river was swollen to a great height and in its wild headlong career carried everything before it Houses were swept away like so many straws, and whole blocks of buildings were thrown down like so many rotten trees The gale was no less terrible than the water Houses were unroofed and blown to shatters tiles and like material were scattered through the air like chaff and strong trees were uprooted as if they had been cornstalks The best part of the city is totally destroyed About the only buildings saved worthy of mention are the mint the Church and the old State College These stood on high and elevated grounds and the advantage, with their solidity, saved them Dr Hill an American resident had three houses carried away and is a loser to the amount of about $10 000 Mr T Robinson Bours, an American doing a banking business here had his banking house swept away Others have suffered severely The loss of life has been quite large Sixty dead bodies have been picked up Some of them were fearfully mangled and could scarcely be recognized Many of the bodies were found miles down the river Undoubtedly, the number found will be largely increased by other unfortunate ones I have written you these few lines hurriedly but do not attempt to describe or explain the most extraordinary phenomenon of a seventy two hours whirlwind and deluge

The ruined city of Alamos was the Athens of Northwestern Mexico or at least had that reputation Its women were reputed to be the loveliest and most intelligent throughout the republic and its citizens were highly spoken of as contrasted with those of other populations There was a great deal of wealth, refinement and luxury among the better classes It was a sort of sanctified Jerusalem, which the proud Spanish blood and brain held in ascendancy and would not be poisoned with contact with Indian and negro mixtures Alamos as a city, had fame before the great metropolis of New York was known It is old among the many old towns of Mexico Surrounding it have been some of the richest mines in the world, and from which the city had its chief support At the time of its destruction it contained a population of 7 100 souls though ... the number at 11 ... which is at least 1000 ... happily ... the number is lessened through a terrible misfortune and the City of ... has fallen ... the dust ... in its strength

WHAT IS THE CAUSE OF ALL THE RAIN? The sun has a period in about ten years in which he is free of spots The greatest numbers were seen about the years 1812 1852 and 1862 the least number, ... in 1847 1857 and 1867 Some five or six years ago when we had a rainy spring, certain would be philosophers explained it by the great number of sun spots, which diminished the usual heat radiating from his surface But now the same philosophers say that by its present freedom of spots and its consequent greater heat an unusual quantity of water is evaporated and of course has to come down as rain This leaves it to ... both ways but they forget that it is not everywhere that the same excess of rain is falling but on the contrary in the Northwest at the present there is not enough of it ... the ...

It is pretty well established that the heat which the whole earth receives from the sun is nearly alike every year spots or no spots, that the total quantity of water evaporated from the ocean which occupies three fourths of the surface of the earth is also alike and the amount of rain falling over the whole surface is consequently also the same Every region of the earth's surface has its yearly share of this rain which however differs greatly for different climates but is, as a rule uniform The North eastern States for instance receive yearly forty inches the South eastern ... and ... of the South western not one tenth part of this amount But occasionally this average quantity is disturbed and one part of the country receives a portion of the share of another for reasons we are not always able to find in fact the laws of meteorology are very complex and the whole science is still a mystery ... The Murderer of D'Arcy M'Gee.

WHELAN IN ... JAIL ... TO BE ...

Whelan the murderer of Thomas D'Arcy McGee was on Saturday last removed to the new jail in Toronto The ... of that city publishes the following interesting account of the prisoner

Yesterday our reporter paid a visit to the jail and found the condemned comfortably ensconced in the quarters provided for him by the Governor on the previous day He has a whole corridor to himself This is situated on the third floor of the building and above the cells from which the counterfeiter ... and his partner made their escape about a year and a half ago Extra precautions are taken in this instance that no like result shall take place and if no other circumstances were likely to prevent it the presence of a ... member of the Ottawa police constantly with him ... sufficient for assuming the safe custody of the prisoner Added to this the ... of the Governor and the incessant watchfulness of his deputy Mr McKenny who for security acts as turnkey, make escape impossible Whelan had just enjoyed his midday meal and was pacing the long corridor that formed his cell, The night cells, twenty in number, open into his day ward There is a bed in each, they range side by side and face toward the corridor, but are at present unoccupied, except Whelan's and the one tenanted by his guard the door of which, at the time of our reporter's presence there was partially open A feeling of delicacy prevented a direct approach to the condemned, and a visit to the Anglican service then proceeding in the chapel of the building was suggested by the Deputy Governor

At the close of the first service the reporter was again directed to Whelan's cell and finding him still pacing the corridor, a word was spoken in passing to which he rejoined with readiness After answering he proceeded to turn away with an air that conveyed the impression that, in importance his visitor was nothing as compared with himself but again wheeling back he gave way apparently to the feeling that in the absence of more distinguished company he was acceptable A hope was expressed that he was as comfortable as at Ottawa, to which he answered "quite The conversation was being closed with the assurance that he would be as comfortable as Mr McKenny could make him when he warmed up into an animated conversation, conducted almost entirely by himself He touched on every phase of his case with great volubility Instead of showing despondency under his doom, he referred to it with less concern than any of his listeners With an assurance of his innocence, he coupled an anathema on those who swore away his life, and he declared that it was only out of pity to them that he desired to live For himself, he expected to be happier in the world to come but regretted the fate of those whose evidence condemned him, because, though lying under the odium of men much more than they, yet God who knew all things could tell who were the innocent and who the guilty The parties who convicted him were also, he said, prejudiced, but on our suggesting that he meant the jury, he said not that he still meant the witnesses the trial was fair, the verdict the only one he would have himself rendered had he been a juryman, but the witnesses had perjured themselves before God in a manner that left him for pity to them the only regret he had to die As for getting off he had little hope legal technicalities were very fine, but gave little confidence Wade, one of the witnesses came in for his special ... statement, and when detailing the inaccuracies in this witness' statement he laughed and stated that even on the trial, he wanted to burst out at the idea of the absurdities he was talking He was particularly severe on a man that had "ported" the evidence against him, and considered him deserving the scorn of every man, because at his instigation the witnesses swore as they did The saddle cloth question was a make-up for effect, and could be easily accounted for He was two years in the cavalry and could ride hence he was selected as Marshal on "Patrick's day " He had no sympathy with Fenianism, which was a folly, but he loved Ireland and thought that if governed like Canada its inhabitants would be happy

Influence of Newspapers on Children.

A school teacher who had enjoyed the benefit of long practice of his profession, and had watched closely the influence of newspapers upon the minds of a family of children, states as the result of his observation that without exception those scholars of both sexes and all ages who have access to newspapers at home, when compared with those who have not are

1 Better readers excellent in pronunciation and consequently read more understandingly

2 They are better spellers, and define words with ease and accuracy

3 They obtain partial knowledge in geography in almost half the time it requires others as the newspapers have made them familiar with the location of important places and nations their government and doings

4 They are better grammarians for having become so familiar with every variety of style in the newspaper from common-place advertisements to the finished and classical orations of the statesman they more readily comprehend the meaning of the text, and consequently analyze its construction with accuracy

5 They write better compositions, using better language containing more thoughts still better expressed

From these simple facts, three important things can be deduced —

1. The responsibility of the press in supplying literature which shall be both healthful in tone and likewise understandingly expressed

2 The absolute necessity of personal supervision of a child's reading by his parents

3 Having once got a good, able paper no matter what the price don't begrudge it a hearty support

The New York Times reports General Grant to have said at Galena on the night of the election

The morning that Lee surrendered, he rode out between the lines and I went out and met him and we had a couple of hours talk Lee said he hoped I would offer as magnanimous terms to the other Confederate armies as his had received. I told him he should if he wished to serve his friends, go to the other armies in person and prevail upon them to surrender He said he would wish to see Mr Davis first I didn't encourage a conference with Mr Davis so that suggestion was ended But what I wanted to call your attention to was this Lee thought the Southern people would be perfectly satisfied to give up all their property and all that they expected of Government was to be secured in life and a right to go back unmolested to try and live industriously and peaceably in this Government But as for ever having any voice again in the Government or exercising political rights why they neither thought of nor expected any such thing

Unnecessary Anxiety

[illegible] the Sound would have [illegible] from the Walla Walla [illegible] Northern Pacific [illegible] the Sound by [illegible] the passes [illegible] Cascades [illegible] to a branch from the Columbia river [illegible] attempts to [illegible] with the prospect that Oregon would [illegible] miles shorter than by the Columbia river.

We have [illegible] attempted to point out to our Puget Sound neighbors the deception they are practising upon themselves in supposing that the commerce of Oregon will be compelled to go to the Sound to find an outlet. There is no question but that the people over there who have been waiting and searching twenty years for a terminus, have the best and most extensive harbor in the world. But that is no reason why they should utterly forget the existence of so important a channel of commerce as the Columbia river. The great part of the trade of Oregon will always follow this channel. Build a dozen railroads from the Columbia river to the Sound and vessels would still enter the Columbia and carry on a traffic through its waters. This will be so because it will forever be cheaper to ship directly to and from this river than to make the Sound our shipping point and pay intermediate railroad charges. A railroad to the Sound would be a very important auxiliary to commerce but it would not close the Columbia river. This channel will be kept open. Our neighbors are talking about building a very big city and they may build one some day for there is no knowing where future cities will spring up. Palmyra was built in a desert and San Francisco is building where Pluto brews earthquakes. But our neighbors on the Sound, though their prospects are so flattering, should not imagine that any of the railroad enterprises in which we and they are jointly interested can close the Columbia river and cause Oregon to send to the Sound for shipment what she can ship with a saving of time and expense through a channel which is open at her own doors.

The Effect of It

Before the late election the Secretary of the Treasury wrote a letter favoring Seymour and Blair. He took care, however, to denounce the financial propositions of the New York platform, and to declare his preference for the Republican doctrine of honesty and good faith in the maintenance of the national credit. In his late report the Secretary speaks as follows of the evil results of the propositions which have been made to pay off the public debt in a depreciated currency:

> The subject of the currency in which the five twenty bonds may be paid—agitated for some time past—was freely discussed during the recent political canvass and made a question upon which parties, to some extent, were divided. The premature and unfortunate agitation and discussion of this question, have been damaging to the credit of the government, both at home and abroad by exciting apprehensions that the good faith of the nation might not be maintained and have thus prevented our bonds from advancing in price, as they otherwise would have advanced after it was perceived that the maximum of the debt had been reached, and have rendered funding at a low rate of interest too unpromising to be undertaken.

This ought to be explicit enough to satisfy every one that the agitation of these dishonorable financial propositions have been a great detriment to the country. The depression of the public credit is largely due to the attempts which have been made to evade our just obligations. The Secretary of the Treasury himself a Democrat bears witness to the evil consequences which have followed these assaults on the public credit. He would have shown more consistency had he thrown his influence against the party which has countenanced this great public immorality.

THE REACTIONARY SPIRIT.—On all sides there are proofs that the spirit of the Democratic party is still as violent, reactionary and rebellious as ever. The following atrocious declaration from the [illegible] of this city is one of the many indications of the spirit which animates the party:—"Our only salvation in the future is from a firm and unflinching opposition to everything looking towards even an equality of civil rights. This last it may be said, is a foregone conclusion. Civil rights are but steps towards political rights and we are unwilling to believe that step is on a firm foundation. That foundation, we believe, will yet be violently demolished." The doctrine of civil rights is established in the National Constitution and the [illegible] believes that doctrine will yet be overthrown by violence. There is no comfort in knowing that the political party which talks in this way will never control the country at least till it mends its conduct. The same paper agrees that every [illegible] that rested on such able statesmen as Breckinridge and Davis has been swept away.

ENGLISH OPINION.—The Victoria [illegible] a paper which thoroughly sympathizes with the Democratic party of the United States and which all along has shown its bias for Andrew Johnson, is compelled by the indecency of the late message to use the following language: "As a document breathing bitter defiance to the opposition majority attacking [illegible] and denouncing their policy, this Message exceeds its predecessors. But as a [illegible] constitutional Speech [illegible] annual Message should [illegible] the [illegible] maledictions [illegible] of the country."

[illegible] THE SOUTH.—The New York [illegible] Major [illegible] has [illegible] in the most startling [illegible] parts of the Southern States [illegible] themselves [illegible] ordinary process of [illegible] by the Sheriff's posse [illegible] Military [illegible] to uphold [illegible] majesty of the law.

WHAT SAVED IT.—One of [illegible] Democratic neighbors says that "[illegible] will be the salvation of the country." Very likely. At any rate we know that Abolition violence exerted against the rebel Democrats of the South has saved the country once already.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Dec. [illegible]

THE [illegible] OF THE [illegible]

The preamble and resolution of the copperheads in the Oregon Legislature asking Senators Williams and Corbett to resign which were presented to the House of Representatives last Wednesday have created a great deal of comment [illegible] of Congress [illegible] Oregon [illegible] greater however than between other North[illegible] and New York [illegible] House of Representatives where it [illegible] would have [illegible] before the British House of Commons [illegible] greater degree [illegible] than any [illegible] has committed [illegible] Oregon must bear [illegible] lack of [illegible] blind partisan [illegible] want a reckless disregard for the best interests of the people of a whole State and their general welfare. The Oregon Copperheads have surpassed all others. They have kept the State [illegible] sending here in its name a [illegible] of [illegible] and abuse [illegible] empty headed [illegible] who were either as brainless as the fellow who introduced it or wilfully intended to destroy the influence of Oregon and her delegation at Washington, and prevent legislation which is essential to the growth and prosperity of the State. It is not only a vile, scurrilous attack upon both of our Senators, such as no decent newspaper would publish, but it is a direct insult to both houses of Congress, and coming at a time when the whole delegation is straining every nerve to obtain railroad subsidies and other measures of great importance it is very unfortunate [illegible] the means of defeating these measures [illegible] the weakest most insignificant creatures which have no influence for good are often capable of doing a great deal of harm. Another such Legislature would make Oregon unfit to live in, and effectually block the future progress and development of the country. Let the people in every county commence work now, with a firm determination that at the next general election the Legislature shall be redeemed from the clutches of the reckless demagogues who now control it and their effort will be crowned with success. When such men as the Hon. Clay Huston, of Lane county, become so disgusted with the folly of the Copperheads as to resign a seat in the Senate we have a right to expect that there are some honest Democrats left who will assist the Union men of Oregon in rescuing the State from the control of the rebel carpet baggers and bushwhackers from Missouri, who have so shamefully disgraced it.

SENATOR WILLIAMS' BILL TO NATURALIZE ALIENS.

Senator Williams will introduce a bill in the Senate next week to change the naturalization laws so as to require aliens to file their intentions to become citizens of the United States five years before being admitted to the right of citizenship. As Senator Williams has given this subject much thought, and being regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in the Senate, his bill is likely to receive more attention than any of the numerous other measures on the same subject which have been introduced in both Houses of Congress.

THE GREENBACK QUESTION IN THE SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Court of the United States commenced its session on Monday. On Tuesday a number of legal tender cases which were heard at the last session were re-argued. The constitutionality of the legal tender act was argued pro and con several days. The State of Oregon vs Lane county for the payment of taxes in coin is one of the causes before the Court though a decision sustaining the constitutionality of the legal tender act, which will no doubt be rendered, will not necessarily beat the State, as the Supreme Court of Oregon, in giving a decision against Lane county declared the act creating legal tenders to be constitutional.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The special commissioners appointed to examine the Union Pacific railroad from Omaha westward, made a favorable report some days ago, and the President has directed that the Government bonds be issued on the full amount of road now completed. And on Tuesday the commissioners appointed to examine the Central Pacific road in California and Nevada, telegraphed a favorable report from Sacramento, so the bonds will be issued to both companies as fast as the work progresses until the road is completed, which will be sometime in the early part of next summer.

PERSONAL.

B. J. Pengra, Esq., ex Surveyor General of Oregon, arrived here last Saturday night, overland. Mr Pengra is working very earnestly for the bill to give aid to the Oregon branch of the Pacific Railroad from Humboldt to Portland. B. F. Dowell, Esq., arrived in Washington last Monday, having made the journey from Jacksonville, overland by way of the Pacific Railroad in [illegible] days. Judge Cummins, of Idaho, and Mr H. Cummins, are also in Washington. Mrs Senator Williams, who has been stopping with friends in New York since her return from Oregon, returned to Washington yesterday. The Rev. J. [illegible] Smith, of Oregon, was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court yesterday.

Cheap and Rapid Transportation

[From the Chicago Post.]

Thaddeus Stevens said on his death bed that the great questions before the country were reconstruction, the finances and the Pacific Railroad. From the present current of public discussion it seems that not only the Pacific, but railroads and telegraphs generally are to claim a large share of attention. A bill will be brought in early in the approaching session of Congress empowering the Government to purchase the telegraph lines of the country for postal purposes. Such a bill was passed by the late British Parliament. We have already given our opinion of this project. Even before the public mind can grasp the postal telegraph scheme, there follows a suggestion that the Government buy up all the railroads in the country. This latter idea was put forth by Edward Crane of Boston, in a speech delivered at Portland, Maine, December 1st, upon the subject of cheap transportation. Simultaneously with the proposition for the Government to buy and operate the railroads, comes a revival of Rowland Hill's idea of sending a passenger from one place to another be the distance long or short for a uniform rate of "postage." Braidon has demonstrated that the average cost of sending a passenger to any part of England is but fourteen pence. If the uniform fare were but three pence, he says the amount of travel would be increased six fold, and that the roads would make more money at that rate than they now do. If, as Crane contends, railroad transportation can be reduced to one fourth its present cost, the adoption of Braidon's plan of postal travel would enable a man to go from one end of England to the other for less than a penny! Making due allowance for the difference in the size of the two countries the realization of Crane's plan for reducing the cost of running cars and an adoption of the postal system would make the average cost of a journey in the United States about three pence! It is alleged that cars will in a few years be run at the rate of 200 miles per hour. We may then put it down as one of the possibilities of the near future for one to breakfast in Chicago, dine in New York and be back home in Chicago for tea, at a cost, leaving out the dinner, of two or three one cent postage stamps! In order that the passage may be first class, suppose we make the cost four times the above amount. We then may go from here to New York and back for the price of a good cigar, or if we are willing to be away from home a couple of days, visit for the same amount San Francisco. We live now in a proverbially fast age, but it is almost certain that relatively it is a very slow one. We shall doubtless soon travel with much greater rapidity and at much less expense. We do not say that Braidon's and Crane's figures will be realized. If they are half realized we are upon the eve of an era of travel and intercommunication that will be characterized by an activity perfectly astounding.

AMENDMENT CALLED FOR.—The St. Louis Democrat, the leading Republican journal of Missouri, urges the Legislature of that State to propose an amendment to the Constitution to remove political disabilities from the disfranchised ex-rebel population. The Democrat thinks that it will be safe to do this. If commenced now the measure cannot be fully consummated until 1872.

Delmar is reported as very mad because Secretary McCulloch fails to sustain the figures he set out for the benefit of the Democratic party before the election. Delmar said the country would have to borrow $1,500,000 during the present year over and above its income. Secretary McCulloch shows that we shall pay expenses and have $50,000,000 left to apply on the debt.

Mrs Lincoln fainted in a Frankfort store recently, and latest reports of her condition occasion grave apprehensions.

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO DECEMBER 29

Indian Matters

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—Gen. Sherman has received dispatches from Gen. Hazen at Fort [illegible] and from General Sheridan of the same date. Hazen says that since Custer's fight he has had no trouble in distinguishing between hostile and friendly bands. He pronounces all the Cheyennes and Arrapahoes unfriendly and hostile. The Kiowas are divided and the Camanches around [illegible] are friendly. The Apaches, Wichitas, [illegible] and [illegible] bands are [illegible] at Fort Cobb claiming protection from the Government. The hostiles have separated from the friendly tribes and have gone over to the north fork of Red river near the mouth of Sweetwater. Satanta is their principal chief. The Kiowas are [illegible] not having gone to the hostile camp. General Sherman however regards Satanta and Bull Bear as the most treacherous of the plain Indians. He believes no lasting peace can be had while they are at large, and has therefore given orders to kill them, or if captured to imprison them at Fort Gibson.

Railroad Accident

[illegible] CANADA, Dec. 29.—The sleeping car attached to the night mail train from Niagara, ran off the track at East Wood this morning, and rolled down an embankment eighteen feet. The car contained eighteen persons twelve of whom are more or less injured, some it is feared fatally.

Poison as a Weapon of War.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—Spanish officials confirm the statement that the insurgents prepared [illegible] with strychnine, that the Spanish troops might partake of it.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—It is stated that there is not a shadow of truth in the reported agreement between America and England on the Alabama claims.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The Russian government has forbidden giving the thirty [illegible] Greek government vessels the use the Russian flag for any purpose whatever.

The Emigrant ship Starry Banner, bound for New York, was totally destroyed in a gale Dec. 21st seven hundred miles west of the coast of Ireland. Forty two people were saved on rafts, and have arrived at Boulogne, France. The captain and the rest of the crew and passengers, 122 souls all told, were lost.

Major Henry Jay, late of the American, was a passenger on the ill fated vessel, and was mainly instrumental in saving the lives of his fellow passengers.

Careful consultation of marine authorities fails to show any record of any vessel of the above name, which leads to the hope that further advices may bring news of a less startling character in relation to this disaster.

The Morning Post publishes a correspondence between James G. Bennett, Jr., and Ashbury of London looking to an ocean yacht race between the Dauntless and Cambria. In its comments the Post prefers the Azores track as one much better adapted to test the sea going qualities of vessels and the seamanship of their masters than the regular trans Atlantic route. The writer exhorts the owners of the British schooner yachts to join in the race and says that the Sappho will participate.

LONDON, Dec. 29—Evening.—The report of the foundering of the emigrant ship Starry Banner, is a hoax, although published by the entire press of London to-day. The original dispatch announced the safe arrival of several passengers at Boulogne but a telegram from the city in answer for particulars, conveys the assurance that there has been no arrival as reported.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 28.—A dispatch from the Sublime Porte, just received, confirms the report of the Sultan's refusal to participate in the projected conference if the Cretan question is to be discussed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 29.—It is confidently asserted that the Porte opposes the holding of a conference.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—Reports have been received of a collision between a band of invading Greeks and a Turkish force in a Turkish province of Albania. The Greeks were victorious.

The details of the conference have all been agreed upon. The sessions will begin in this city on Saturday next.

MADRID, Dec. 29.—Gen. Caballero has been ordered to take troops to the province of Seville to prevent any trouble. The country is, however, entirely tranquil. The Government has contracted a loan with Erlanger, of Paris. The legal tribunals have forbidden the use of the name of the Moniteur to the new official organ.

FLORENCE, Dec. 29.—Garibaldi has written a letter formally declining a commission in the Greek army which had been tendered him by the Grecian Government, in view of the threatened war.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The steamer Colorado sailed to-day with 120 passengers and $708,560 treasure.

A grand banquet was given in New York last night, in honor of Professor Morse, inventor of the magnetic telegraph. An instrument placed in the banquet hall was placed in communication with San Francisco and messages were sent direct between the two cities. The difference in time was ascertained to be three and a quarter hours.

There were two slight shocks of earthquake at San Leandro Monday evening. The closing of the United States Mint for current settlement takes place January 9th.

The excursion to Calistoga, via Vallejo and Napa Valley Railroad, took place to-day. There were about 1,500 people at the wharf ready to go on the excursion, and as the steamer Oakland, which had been chartered for the occasion, could afford standing room for but a part of this number, of course there were many disappointed ones left behind.

A daring attempt at abduction was made on Bush street, at the corner of Dupont, at one o'clock yesterday morning. A highly respectable girl had spent the evening with some friends and started home without an escort, fearing no danger in the heart of the city. She was seized by four ruffians dragged to the door of an assignation house on Dupont street and threatened with death if she resisted. A gentleman passing up Bush street saw the affair, blew a policeman's whistle and rushed to the rescue. The ruffians instantly fled and escaped.

WOODLAND, Dec. 30.—A man named William Sargent committed suicide here to-day by taking strychnine. He has been in poor health some time and left a note stating that he was tired of life. Justice Henry is now holding an inquest.

Capitoline Art Talk

[Washington Correspondence St. Louis Democrat.]

While looking at Stone's Hamilton, as it was being unboxed, a delegate in Congress came up to me. He represented a Pacific Territory. Looking at the figure some time he said:

"Who is this General?"

"Hamilton."

"Ah! Hamiltonton—where was he in service?"

"At Yorktown particularly!"

"Ah! Yes. My dear," turning to a lady, "this is one of General McClellan's marshals—Hamilton."

This actual episode is an instance of the heathen ignorance of many people who come here to make standards of taste and law. A child in pinafores would have known the attire to be of the revolutionary period. But ignorance of Hamilton is almost a national idiosyncrasy. The philosopher is our [illegible]. Had the chief author of our Government never fought a duel with Burr, not one tenth of one per cent of our legislators would have remembered him. Part of us can make [illegible] Aaron Burr's life is like a novel, for he was devilish and a Bohemian, the Alfred the Great of our statesmanship is as vague a character in all history as is General Rawlings, chief aid to Grant as Hamilton to Washington.

I stood at the statue while probably a hundred people looked at it and only one or two recognized the name.

"Hamilton?" said one. "Seems to me I heard of him. He was kilt at Bunker Hill."

"No Jim! That was Warren."

"So it was. Then it was Hamilton that rode a hoss down the meetin'-us steps!"

"I believe it was him."

"That's him. Now I recollect perfectly."

In part of the Senate wing they have set up a Greek door in bronze and being handsomely carved two policemen have to guard it perpetually, day and night, that the American Vandal may not knock off the figures with his cane or boot heel. It is too cold to express indignation at this Vandalism but the policeman who must prevent it [illegible] to their [illegible] sentryship. If this capital city was decorated to the extent of Berlin or Florence it would take the entire police force to stand by the ornaments.

Women used to be in the habit of entering the President's house with scissors to clip down the lace curtains, and several respectable looking ones were sent to the station house. Some men unscrewed the bronze cherubs from the private stairs of the House and Senate. Rogers' door has been mutilated in two or three places by some vandals. The destructive energies of the nation are far in advance of our creative enthusiasm.

Odds and Ends

The Boston Post says:—"A Sunday paper says it is in favor of women voting if they want to. We shall be in favor of it when it will make them vote if they don't want to."

A sensational writer in a city of Mexico newspaper has achieved a great success by a description of an American duel, two locomotives on a single track being the weapons.

It turns out that the stones supposed to have been supernaturally thrown at a house in Cleveland were thrown by a neighbor who objected to the occupant on account of his politics.

Not a single daily paper is published in either of the Mexican States of Sinaloa, Durango, Coahuila, Chihuahua and Sonora, containing over 800,000 inhabitants. Durango, with a population of 16,000 has [illegible] semi-weekly.

[illegible] an English Liberal candidate's carriage was drawn by the people in triumph through the streets, a local clergyman remarked at a Conservative meeting that the carriage was drawn not by horses, but by the less noble animal, whereupon the district paper reminded him that on the following Sabbath he would have to address the asses as "dearly beloved brethren."

Within a period of less than eighteen years the Rothschilds have furnished in loans $200,000,000 to England, $50,000,000 to Austria, $80,000,000 to France, $50,000,000 to Naples, $25,000,000 to Russia, $12,000,000 to Brazil, and many lesser sums to some of the smaller States. James Rothschild was the last of the heads of the famous house and the last of the five brothers. The death throws the responsibilities of the house upon the third, fourth and fifth generations of the family.

CHARITY.—A large class of people professing to be virtuous in many occasions forget that to be charitable to a fellow being is the least virtue a person can possess. It is not always by giving money to the poor or assisting the afflicted that a person can only show their charity. A good advice is often better than money. For instance: Meeting a person who wishes to purchase a common or fine suit of clothes or any other article in the Clothing or Dry Goods line, is it not a charitable act toward that person to recommend them to go to Kohn & Fishel, not being certain that at that House they can purchase at the lowest rates and receive good goods and where the most particular can be satisfied?

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance relating to nuisances, was ta[illegible] from the table and [illegible] to the Committee [illegible] Health and Police.

An ordinance authorizing the O. C. R. R. [illegible] to construct a railroad track [illegible] Fo[illegible] street, and run cars on the [illegible] read a[illegible] passed—yeas 5, nays 2.

A communication was received, and by cons[illegible] allowed to be read out of the regular orde[illegible] [illegible], from Messrs. Ball & Dow, proprietors [illegible] the Evening Commercial, relating to the C[illegible] Printing and which was, on motion, filed, [illegible] contract with the Oregon Herald not having [illegible] pired, and which [illegible] to do the work u[illegible] the contract.

An ordinance was introduced by Councilm[illegible] Hopkins, relative to contracting with the O[illegible] R. R. Co. for transporting material for city i[illegible] provements by the railroad company for the c[illegible] and granting the railroad company the righ[illegible] way to construct a track through the st[illegible]

Also an ordinance appropriating to said r[illegible] road company the $10,000 [illegible] from la[illegible] last year to pay interest on bonds, was read a f[illegible] and second time.

Adjourned.

A FIRST CLASS M[illegible] [illegible] and a free expenditure of mon[illegible] [illegible] & Stimson have about [illegible] at North Portland which is a [illegible] not only to the [illegible] but to the State. The last piece of [illegible] contemplated will be put up to-day, and then the [illegible] will be complete, except that a [illegible] of the building are yet to be [illegible] When these are done, the building will be 140 by 43 [illegible] the main or original building being 120 feet long, [illegible] two stories high. The entire structure rests upon [illegible] [illegible] were these details [illegible] machinery was started, the [illegible] has not got ou[illegible] [illegible] and, with all the saws and [illegible] friction there is scarcely a perceptible tremor of [illegible] building. Surrounding the building, they have [illegible] erected also upon piles, nearly 800 feet square of w[illegible] The machinery is all driven by an engine of 100-h[illegible] power—a power so immense that the [illegible] the belts to the driving pulleys does not seem to c[illegible] the speed in the least. The mill has now in succe[illegible] operation two large circular saws with which the la[illegible] logs are slabbed and split into the [illegible] a "major" with which the cutting into boards is [illegible] with astonishing rapidity; two lath saws, two c[illegible] saws, a large planing machine and the complete [illegible] chinery of a box factory. In the latter, every desc[illegible] tion of boxes are now being manufactured. The [illegible] when run to its capacity will employ sixteen men [illegible] will cut from the log 25,000 feet of board lumber per [illegible] beside making 10,000 laths and running the [illegible] box factory with results proportionable in magnit[illegible] Everything is so arranged that the men have no [illegible] really hard work to do. The logs are drawn up [illegible] put upon the carriage by machinery, turned by the [illegible] means when desirable, the heavy blocks or cut[illegible] raised up the major carriage by a [illegible] and the slabs and lumber are run out upon a syste[illegible] rollers. When a log is once brought into the mill [illegible] completely chawed up before it leaves, into board[illegible] laths, or firewood, even the saw dust being used to [illegible] the fires roaring under the boilers. The [illegible] of the most perfect character and everything is so sta[illegible] and convenient withal that it is a real [illegible] to [illegible] to the mill and look at the immense [illegible] going [illegible] Mr. O. H. Rogers is the millwright under [illegible] superintendence everything has been done, and the [illegible] will [illegible] is a flattering monument to his g[illegible] and skill.

AMUSEMENTS AT THE DALLES.—The Dalles is really [illegible] to be quite a lively little city. We learn, thr[illegible] a private source that a few nights since, the Hon. [illegible] Trevitt amused himself for a few moments by firing [illegible] volver at a man named John Wall on account of [illegible] words which passed between them in a saloon. [illegible] entrenched himself behind a bit of board, or rather [illegible] the board as a sort of bat with which to knock the [illegible] [illegible] Senator's bullets right and left and keep [illegible] from plumping his valued person. Another affair [illegible] more laughable [illegible] is of recent occurrence. A [illegible] of the federal army having [illegible] [illegible] Radical [illegible] concluded to a[illegible] [illegible] by applying a horse whip to the [illegible] Meeting him in the street colonel exc[illegible] [illegible] whip [illegible] hold my boy! The music was furnished by Grebe's band Prof Cardinell, director of dancing A splendid cold collation with coffee and wines, was served at 12 o'clock by Allsky & Hegele The occasion will be long remembered with pleasure by every one who attended

ORO FINO THEATER —At Oro Fino Theater, to-night, for the first time in the city of Portland will be performed the beautiful and thrilling English drama by J B Buckstone entitled "Flowers of the Forest" This is an old standard play by one of the favorite melo dramatic authors and the writer of some of the finest sensational pieces ever put upon the stage It is somewhat spectacular in character replete with incident and startling effects, combining the comic with the sentimental, is picturesque in sceneries and thrilling in denouements Cinthia the Zingara, is one of Mrs Bates greatest characters Thayer who is becoming constantly a greater favorite will appear in the character of Ishmael, the Wolf a part admirably adapted to his style of acting Miss M Field has been engaged and will make her first appearance in this piece in the character of Lemuel a Gipsey boy—a very fine character Mrs Clara Robinson will also appear in the beautiful part of Starlight Bess The other characters are cast in such manner as to bring out the whole strength of the company and the public may confidently rely upon seeing an excellent representation

"THE [illegible] AND CUSTOMS JOURNAL"—The [illegible] Revenue and Customs Journal is a weekly, published at New York, and the established medium of official information on matters of Internal Revenue and Taxation It publishes by authority all official decisions and regulations of the Treasury Department and Commissioner of Internal Revenue relating to the assessment and collection of taxes, and the reports of Revenue cases in the United States courts The price of subscription is $5 per annum $2 50 for six months. Mr H A Moses will commence to day to canvass in this city for subscribers It will be found a reliable authority in the matters above mentioned and of every day importance to business men Already, a number of business men of this State have been involved in trouble and cost, through not knowing the law or late decisions upon obscure or debatable points. The possession of this periodical would, of course, convey all such necessary information and thus prove of incalculable benefit to all persons engaged in manufactures or trade Every business man should take it

RAIN —Messrs. W C Whitson and P C Sullivan who went to Puget Sound via Victoria on the last trip but one of the steamer Active arrived in this city upon their return, night before last. They came overland from Victoria, and pronounce the road between Skookum Chuck and Monticello, by several degrees of comparison, a harder road to travel than the famed "road over Jordan" Judge Whitson with whom we had some conversation yesterday thinks the Sound country, in many respects a desirable one and he has no words at all with which to express his admiration of Puget Sound as a body of water" He speaks of Seattle as about the only town he visited which exhibited any marked signs of prosperity

OTHELLO'S OCCUPATION GONE —We are informed that a ring in the city has effected the removal of Mr Bellinger from the editorialship of the Herald even before he had fairly grasped the editorial quill Thereby hangs a tale which will bear telling, and we think we shall make the mournful relation in a day or two The editorship of the Herald will we suppose, go boarding round" again

ERROR —The ladies under whose auspices the ball will be given this evening in honor of the Emmet Guard, desire us to correct an error made in announcing the Committee of Invitation The Committee consists of Misses Kate Powers, Ellen Burly, Delia Slack Kate Murtha and Annie Sullivan

BOOTS AND SHOES,

sep1dtf For sale by H. W. CORBETT & CO

One day while promenading the streets of the town,
With a very poor chapeau surmounting my crown,
I met an old friend who in my taste did not flatter
For he asked me indignantly— Who is your Hatter?

My good friend, I answered, of such I have none
I'm long since made the acquaintance of one
My best gear, I know, will going to seed
But I'll visit your Hatter if you'll take the lead

Agreed he replied so we sauntered along
And asking [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] all now a fragrant [illegible]
We stopped at the Corner at MEUSSDORFFER'S Bazaar

We found the Emporium of Fashion well stored
With Hats of all kinds [illegible]
I was speedily suited in price fit and style
And [illegible] my friend with a sarcastic smile
[illegible] in this as in most other matters
Is unerring for MEUSSDORFFER's the Hatter of Hatters

Let the leader of Fashion dictate as he may
And the Hatter whatever he pleases can say
But Corner Morrison and Front street always for me
For MEUSSDORFFER the Hatter of Portland is he

SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON

I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE citizens of [illegible] to my celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS a medicinal Diet Drink of eminently salutary qualities manufactured by myself exclusively at my factory at Schiedam in Holland

In Gravel and Rheumatism, Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys its effects are prompt decided and invariably reliable

It is now some twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public and during that time he has received over 3,000 letters from physicians [illegible] it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice

It is made from barley of the finest quality selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain growing districts. It is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy and is rectified by a peculiar process which expels from the spirit every acrid particle

As a means of preventing and correcting disagreeable and often dangerous effects produced on the system and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers new settlers and all unacclimated persons are peculiarly liable—the

SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS

Will be found absolutely infallible while in cases of dropsy gravel obstructions of the kidneys diseases of the bladder stricture dyspepsia and general debility it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants

Are you WEAK DEBILITATED NERVOUS! Is your sleep disturbed? Do you have palpitation of the heart? an inclination to melancholy? Diseases of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC which will be found in [illegible]

Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is sold by all Grocers and Apothecaries.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is recommended by all the Medical Faculty

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS,

Imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, [illegible] ly for medicinal and private use.

Be Poor Before you are Rich

Expound to me if you can Mr Bonner why [illegible] means and [illegible]

[illegible] young people frequently [illegible] shame at being supposed not to have money [illegible] the world knows that they ought to have none.

A young fellow has been [illegible] by the rigorous economy [illegible] Only by the very hardest industry and strictest economy [illegible] college. Every single shilling is important [illegible] And yet he is ashamed [illegible] his part in small expenses. He is utterly unable to say "I cannot afford it." It is the hardest thing to say I must confess. I assume in a community of several hundred young men two thirds of whom are poor and the children of poor men there is a lurking shame of poverty which radiates into public sentiment and reflects a kind of disrepute upon those who boldly say "I must deny myself beyond the barest necessities of life whatever costs money." Poverty has enough trouble without the addition of foolish and dishonorable sentiments.

Who expects young men to have money to spare? Does not the whole world know that they are but starting into life that as they have earned nothing and that they inherit no fortune—that they received but a small stipend—and that, if they would be honest they must practice a rigorous economy. Why then do young men engage in pleasure boats which drain their pockets dry and lay them under temptations to dishonesty for fear people will think they have no money?

Of course, folks will think so and just as much if you are inveigled into unwise giving, as if you refused. A poor young man ought to be poor until he has broken the spell of poverty by industrious enterprise and he should rather glory in it than be ashamed of it.

It is necessary that he should be frugal it is not necessary that you should spend five dollars in taking a young lady to the opera. It is necessary that you should be honest, it is not necessary to attempt to walk in circles of society that will swallow up the pitiful pennies of poverty like quick sand, and leave only irresistible temptation to dishonesty. It is a good reason for not joining a club an excursion, a riding party and still more extravagant ball, that you cannot honestly raise the money. Who ought to hold up his head the highest, the young man who quietly says "I cannot yet indulge in such expenses," or the fellow who is ashamed of own poverty, but is not ashamed to steal the money on which he makes a false appearance?

I hear a good deal about Yankee meanness—of the spirit of trade and dicker—of the stinginess and parsimony of Northern men. But, while the manner of showing economy may be unfortunate the essential spirit of thrift and economy is a thousand times nobler than the free handed squanderer of money which gives a superfluous reputation for generosity to people who are on the road to bankruptcy and who have long spent money not their own with a special gracefulness. Henry Ward Beecher

A New Way to Pay Old Debts.

All Eastern journals of any character or ability are very severe in their denunciations of Johnson's proposition to repudiate the national debt. As a sample of the scathing criticisms which this dishonorable suggestion has drawn, we give the following from the Chicago Tribune of the 10th December

There was a popular conundrum going the rounds of the press after the impeachment trial "Why is it so hard to get Andrew Johnson out?" Because he went in tight." His last annual message to Congress justifies the conclusion that he is going out in the [illegible] condition that he went in. After meandering through a column of Nasbyisms on the subject of reconstruction, he makes the startling recommendation that the entire principal of the public debt be repudiated at the end of sixteen years. He sets out with the proposition that the Government received for its bonds "three hundred or four hundred per cent less than the obligation which it issued in return." The mathematical inaccuracy of this statement is scarcely surpassed by the knavery which it is intended to justify. What is one hundred per cent less than one hundred dollars? Nothing! Three hundred per cent less would be two hundred dollars less than nothing. Mr. Johnson's proposition, therefore, is, that, inasmuch as the Government received nothing for its bonds, but paid the holders two or three dollars for accepting each dollar as a free gift, therefore it would be fair and just for the Government, after paying the interest sixteen years, to repudiate the principal!

This is indeed a new way to pay old debts. Give a man your note for one hundred dollars, payable at the end of ten years, with ten per cent. interest, and when the principal becomes due, tell him that you have already paid that back to him, is not ten times ten one hundred? Yes, replies the creditor, but what about the principal? O, says Parson Nasby, I paid that to you regularly every year. We infer that Mr Johnson has been taking his bitters at the same place where the man bought a loaf of bread for sixpence and then asked the proprietor of the grocery to exchange it for a glass of whisky. The exchange being effected and the whisky consumed the seller asked the purchaser for the money to pay for the whisky. "I gave you the bread for it" said the other. "Then pay me for the bread" replied the proprietor of the establishment. "I gave that back to you, you blamed fool!" was the indignant rejoinder.

The message before us is the last act of Andrew Johnson's career that will attract any considerable share of public attention. He is infamous and discontented. Whether his suggestion in favor of repudiation is intended to embarrass his successor in office, or merely to round out his own depraved record, it is impossible for persons not in his confidence to [illegible] tend. How his Cabinet could have allowed such a message to be sent in without unanimously [illegible] their resignations, is a mystery. In his former communications to Congress Mr. Johnson has shown a commendable regard for the national honor, as regards the currency and the debt. He has done everything bad in a merely political way, but up to the present time he has kept within the letter and spirit of the laws relating to finances. He has now so far out done the Copperheads in the way of repudiation that they become respectable by comparison. Their avowed plan was to repudiate the interest of the public debt. His plan is to repudiate the principal. They claimed to have the law on their side. He claims nothing of the kind. He says merely that the public creditors had better not insist on payment.

Such a message ought not to be received by Congress. It ought to be sent back to its author as unfit to have a place among the public records.

PROSPECTUS

WeeklyOregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,

AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS

OF

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana,

TELEGRAMS FROM

THE EAST AND EUROPE

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Western affairs, both politically and [illegible] from a Western standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best [illegible]

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

Commercial Reports

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire as entered on our books. In renewing the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

☞ REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.
